I'm stuck on configuring ActiveMQ 5.10.1 on AWS RDS. I need the ActiveMQ to be accessible using a dynamic TLS certificate. And it also needs to use MYSQL as the broker. As far as I've seen, the ActiveMQ Installation Docs don't mention anything about using MYSQL as the broker. So I'm looking for any help. A: To enable TLS you'll need to install the OpenSSL provider. Once you have that installed you can configure ActiveMQ to use TLS connections with a Certificate Authority. Take a look at for further information. A: As of version 5.5 (and higher) ActiveMQMQ supports TLS (and in the near future HMAC) on MYSQL, please see this link: There is a warning about using STARTTLS that I have not tested, but I use it all the time. If you are concerned about the STARTTLS, you can use instead. SURPRISE, Ariz. -- The Rockies are embracing this new era of state-of-the-art sports facilities, even if they are going up in the desert.
