Martinez Major League Baseball's 100th anniversary season will be loaded with new records, games, and moments, but the one that may best capture the history of the game will be Chase Utley's hit. On Tuesday, the 14-time All-Star broke the league record for consecutive plate appearances hit by a leadoff hitter when he recorded his sixth hit of the game in the third inning. His return to the lineup after a trade to the Dodgers had long been anticipated, and it would mark the second time in as many days that the event would be celebrated. Monday night's at-bat marked the first time that the Houston Astros had won a game after hitting a leadoff home run, and that homer is now the closest thing we have to a highlight reel of "the best of Chase Utley," who...
