This PCM digital transmission system is used for the transmission of digital audio data and is to permit the transmission of such data at an extremely high fidelity. For example, the PCM digital transmission system is used to transmit an audio data signal, which carries a signal having been encoded into PCM digital data by an audio encoder, in order to re-encode the PCM data into a format which is more suitable for the transmission. In such PCM digital transmission systems, the PCM data to be transmitted are transmitted in a TDM (Time Division Multiplex) manner so as to permit the transmission of a plurality of PCM signals. The above-mentioned PCM digital transmission system is disclosed, for example, in U.S. Pat. No. 4,139,888 and in U.S. patent application Ser. No. 673,719. A conventional PCM digital transmission system of the above-mentioned type is constructed such that, as shown in FIG. 1, each of one digital unit 2 and another digital unit 4 has a sub-bus 1 which is connected to a main bus 3 through an interface circuit 5. Therefore, the PCM digital data to be transmitted between these digital units 2 and 4 are transmitted through these interfaces 5 to the main buses 3 to be subjected to the PCM encoding processing. Thus, the PCM digital data are transmitted over the main bus 3, and the transmission speed is considerably lower than that of the main buses 3. Moreover, it is required to comprise a large number of interfaces 5, resulting in the increase of the production cost. Further, if it is intended to transmit data of a large capacity, a large number of digital units 2, 4 are required, and hence the bus width must be increased.The committee, by contrast, believes the case for abolishing

A Vibrometric titration combined with thin-film studies of the interaction between carbendazim fungicide and Langmuir films of octadecane and n-octanol was performed. The Langmuir isotherms of the fungicide at the air-water interface were measured by the surface pressure method using a Wilhelmy balance. The vibrational spectra of a Langmuir film of octadecane and a Langmuir film of octanol with and without carbendazim were investigated by the attenuated total reflection-Fourier transform infrared spectroscopy (ATR-FTIR). The results obtained revealed that carbendazim interacts mainly with the -CH2- and -CH3 groups of the octadecane and octanol molecules, resulting in a change of surface pressure values of the Langmuir films, which can be correlated to the hydrating properties of the fungicide. Furthermore, the IR studies revealed that the carbendazim molecules were preferably located at the interface between the organic solvent phase and the aqueous solution. The IR spectrum of a Langmuir monolayer of octadecane and octanol in the absence and presence of carbendazim exhibited the presence of 3e33713323
