There's no tool more difficult to learn than Flash, no powerful tool so opaque that you cannot use it if you want to. With a rich toolset and a stylish interface, WebAnimator can help you create compelling presentations and interesting HTML5 animations that provide full compatibility with the latest technologies available in modern browsers and devices such as tablets and smartphones. Templates for presentations and slideshows Whether you want to create a simple presentation, a slideshow, a photo gallery, a short movie, an ad or a game, WebAnimator can be of assistance. Designed to meet the requirements of both advanced and beginner users, it can build animated menus and moving objects without you having to write a single line of code. It comes with a set of templates that can be easily customized to match your needs. However, this collection does not offer a variate choice range, so you might just have to start building your project from scratch. Effects library, project scenes and customizable options WebAnimator splits projects into different scenes, allowing you to focus on important items and actions, just like you would in a slideshow presentation. The timeline of each scene can be tampered with, elements can be moved and rotated as you consider fit, while keyframing enables you to easily manipulate the CSS properties of each object in the presentation. The live animation library comprises a generous collection of effects that you can apply to an object or a text box, enabling you to define movement trajectories and motion type. You can make adjustments to an object's border, size, background, rotation, opacity, shadow and reflection effects, tamper with text styles and effects. And thanks to the event handling options, you can create fully interactive buttons and menus that trigger various actions on mouse hover. Build your HTML5 animations and presentations Consider the above, it's safe to say that WebAnimator delivers a decent set of tools for creating interactive animations and presentations. It features a user-friendly working environment with accessible options that does not need much time to get accustomed with. The available template collection is not variate, but it does offer a starting point, which is particularly important to beginners. Projects can be easily exported to HTML format and loaded in any compatible web browser.
