blackishseason1 I've always wondered why this type of woman is in fashion. Why do these girls, who are thirty or more years old, look completely different than their peers. The older they get, the more feminine. And peers who are young and beautiful become vulgar and not feminine. Why is that? Probably because they are just older. You didn't notice. As you get older, you become more feminine, with long hair, with a beautiful and correct posture and make-up.
