Taking place in a fantasy world between two dimensions, it is a multilayered story told in fragments. The aim of the game is to climb the ranks as an NPC to become an Elden Lord, and to do so, you will make choices for the people and land of the Lands Between. In addition, you can freely customise your character with weapons, armor and magic that you equip, and you can fully develop your character in a non-linear style. ### What's new:

Regarding the trailer, overshadows, confusing story and the lack of combat show they had a rough time producing, and still are. Funny they managed to make it public. Hopefully GA can drop an in-depth review later today. Still curious how their eSports performance will go. Doesn't really matter to me, because I won't play any of them because 1. I haven't seen the footage yet, 2. I know it's a pre-Alpha build and not a finished thing, and 3. AoE isn't my cup of tea. But let's all place bets as to what's most appropriate metric for judging them, eh? I'll stick with my original teaser. I'm going to be satisfied with Browsers, APIs, and some standout technical advancements. Doesn't really matter to me, because I won't play any of them because 1. I haven't seen the footage yet, 2. I only mentioned him in this thread because he works with GA and his opinion matters. I hold him in the highest of regard.
