Real-life player data features in Fifa 22 Cracked Accounts's new Move the Ball technique and mechanics. Using the new player-focused, enhanced Move the Ball, players on both sides can work with a maximum of up to six players at one time to control the ball as a team. Only four players are required to set up and control a play, providing the most balanced gameplay on the pitch. The new Defensive Shield ability allows players to shield and prevent the ball carrier from receiving the ball. A defensive shield creates a collision while allowing players to stay positionally or physically close to the ball carrier. Players can use this mechanic with eight defenders at a time, and after a successful Defensive Shield, the ball carrier is denied possession. FIFA 22 also introduces a variety of new commentary and presentation features. The most prominent is the new critical commentary feature. Live commentary from the top of the AMS will be accessible via a new Critic Cam. The Critic Cam can also be triggered manually from the bottom of the AMS by pressing the Right and Left Analog Sticks. The new Commentary Engine provides players with complete control over their commentary settings, from perspective, commentary style, and post match analysis. Each commentary style allows users to insert their own commentary via a context-sensitive on-screen keyboard. On-screen keyboard appears to be activated with the Insert Menu button and is context sensitive; for example, if commentary is active, the keyboard will only be available for entering commentary text or a sub-category. The Commentary Engine also allows for the swapping of play-by-play commentators between matches without the need to restart the game. The Commentary Engine is also compatible with the SportMaster functionality of the game, allowing for the manual selection of plays, such as strikes and goals, and the activation of additional comments on the selected plays. Additionally, Commentary Engine can be activated in a game pre-season mode to review specific matches. FIFA 22 introduces an all-new premium pass system that brings fans of the UEFA competitions closer to the matches they love. The new premium pass system allows fans to earn and buy branded UEFA medals for successfully completing in-game challenges, which have been tweaked to offer real-life rewards, including the opportunity to drive a vehicle on the real-life stadium of a team from your purchase. As members of the UEFA premium platform get closer to unlocking their UEFA Champions League gold, silver and bronze medals, they'll be closer to unlocking branded gifts.
