HyperMotion gives a new dimension to football simulation, bringing new life to time-honoured coaching strategies and tactics. This is an in-depth look at FIFA's new 3D player model, which includes over 600 real-life player stats and an enhanced AI. The team has also introduced new ball physics, pitch deformation, ball technology and streaming behaviour, to create a more realistic and reactive gameplay experience.

New FIFA Personality The new Player Personality is a new template that will be applied to all players. This template captures the traits that FIFA players connect with, including emotional intelligence, speed and accuracy, aggression, athleticism and work rate. By plugging into the player persona, players will feel more authentic and relatable. New animation skills, which animate a player's facial expressions in a more natural way, let you develop a more expressive connection with your teammates, the opposition and the crowd. Players will also react differently to tackles, receive the ball differently and display different behaviours based on who they are playing and how they are feeling on the pitch. By developing player-to-player personality traits, we can provide a much deeper connection to your teammates. The Team AI increases the intelligence of the AI team and makes them more resilient to pressure. The AI will also perform better when facing more experienced opponents, to make it a more challenging game. New Gameplay Experience GAME CHANGER This is a brand new approach to multiplayer gameplay that we've developed to help you play the game the way you want to. You can also choose to play in the new Training Mode, which lets you play the game the way you want. This is a perfect match for players that want to train more efficiently. The game also introduces new Career Mode, which features more realistic gameplay, allowing players to play from the beginning of their career to the end of it.
