Romney: 'Unthinkable and unacceptable' to not commit to peaceful transition of power Two Louisville police officers shot amid Breonna Taylor grand jury protests MORE's phone call to the widow of Army Sgt. La David Johnson late Monday, saying the president was calling him and not the Florida woman. "The White House has made calls to the families of all service members who have died," Pruitt said, according to The New York Times. The administration's explanation comes after the widow of Johnson first said Trump called her to "offer his condolences" before adding the president had told her to "'beware of the scum' in her community." Johnson, a 25-year-old Army officer from Miami Gardens, Fla., was killed while providing security during a mission in Niger. ADVERTISEMENT Trump has faced intense scrutiny over the phone call, with many Democrats and members of the media accusing him of providing "disrespectful" treatment to the grieving family. However, Pruitt on Tuesday defended the president's comments, saying Trump had not been to Sgt. Johnson's funeral. Pruitt also said the White House had not been in contact with the family for about
