P.S. My brother Antonio helped a lot on this video. Check his work! Music is "Leaders" by Broke For Free Appreciate music? In this video I'll show you how to get an inventory for your POS(Point Of Sale) system. We do all this using 3rd party tools and apps, and they are things you may or may not have heard of before. I also show how much of a pain these tools are to work with. POS or Point Of Sales terminals are a must for any retail store, restaurant, restaurant or cafe, bar, service industry or any establishment that needs to track inventory levels and sell/purchase stock. A good system will tell you when a product is running out, put orders through for you and keep everything up to date and accurate. Like most tools, using them is an art form. You can have all the best tools in the world and still be trapped but with this video I hope you are equipped with enough insight to know where to start and how to avoid being stuck. 1. AccountEdge Account Edge uses a different approach to setting up an Inventory. Instead of using a spreadsheet, they give you tools that are able to work with barcode scanners and other basic devices. 2. RMS (Redmatic Management Solution) www.redmatic.eu One of the best retail management systems available. In the RMS world you have customisable point of sale software powered by omni-channel technology.It links with all major hardware, and your business systems, including ERP, CRM, MRP, transportation management, automatic warehouse control and plant monitoring, and other software. RMS displays locations, sales history, bills of materials and purchase orders, and also provides reports in an instant, and is customisable to meet all your business requirements. 3. GoodsQL GoodsQL is a bar code scanning application with the added feature of inventory tracking and a mobile sales app. 4. QuickBooks The software is free to download from the Intuit website. Quickbooks can be used for both small and large businesses for desktop and mobile. There are no up-front costs or contract commitments which makes it the perfect application for the first time point of sale terminal or POS owner. It has outstanding Inventory management and reporting tools

WinAutomation With Full Keygen

Automate your Windows computer with WinAutomation. This software application lets you record any type of computer process and then automatically continue this process at any time. WinAutomation is powerful tool that creates tasks that you can easily trigger with an executable file. The included script builder allows you to construct your own actions as well. This free version includes 50 tasks and 50 hotkeys. Additionally, you can use WinAutomation task builder. If you use the computer as your main tool to perform your day-to-day activities, surely you come across routines that involve running the same apps each time you start working. Luckily, developers came up with various specialized applications like WinAutomation that give you the possibility to record an action and trigger it with minimum effort. Multiple ways to create tasks The application is heavily equipped with features and you'll be able to automate a large majority of tasks. It's recommended to take your time and practice with the rich library of predefined processes to get familiar with all options. Creating a task doesn't require any specialized knowledge, especially because each field you need to fill in is fitted with helpful info. There are three major types of processes you can create. You can configure a job by piling up a number of predefined commands, have the application record your actions, or have web activity captured. An abundance of predefined functions you can use The job designer is where you spend most of your time. A side panel provides quick access to all implemented actions. An impressive array of system functions, conditionals, loops, text actions, web automation tasks are at your disposal. These are just categories, with each holding a breathtaking amount of elements you only need to drag over your workspace. Configure hotkeys and generate executable files There is no limit to the depth of a task you can create, as long as it's properly arranged. On the other hand, you can take advantage of an integrated debugger to identify any possible flaws, which comes in handy for complex tasks. As long as the application is running, you can start and stop any task. What's more, you can attribute custom hotkeys to each action to easily have them triggered and stopped. In terms of accessibility, there's a neat feature that lets you generate an executable file you only need to run to trigger a job. This comes in handy for creating tasks you can use on the go. To sum it up All in all, WinAutomation deserves a seat at the winners table, giving you the possibility to automate
