Tired of wasting time flipping through your photos and trying to determine which ones are worth keeping? Do you want a way to be able to quickly find images by focus, style, subject, or even keywords?PhotoFinder is an advanced image search utility that allows you to sort your files in a number of ways. The program can help you find pictures by focus, subject, face, or keywords, and shows you the thumbnails of your favorite images, letting you quickly recognize them and sort them into lists. This compact, lightweight software doesn't require administrator privileges. What's more, the program doesn't perform any actions once the search is finished, so you can work with your pictures without the risk of running into any data loss problems.PhotoFinder can scan the entire file system for photos that contain keywords, faces, subjects, or focus. It even helps you find pictures stored in common formats, such as: JPEG, TIFF, BMP, PCX, and GIF. The program includes an easy-to-use interface, allowing you to search for images by their thumbnail, text, and face. You can get information about a file such as its width, height, file size, image format, date and time of creation, file permissions, file type, owner, file location, etc. You can also see the preview of the picture, and use any of the sorting options to sort your photos into lists. The search results display images in thumbnails. You can sort them in three ways: by subject, face, and focus. You can also create custom lists that will appear in the Main Window. PhotoFinder also includes numerous useful features, such as: face detection, face recognition, face editing, face correction, face deletion, face merge, face beautification, face rotation, face pose detection and face removal. You can also search for photos that contain specific text. The program will scan your computer and find any images with keywords, titles, etc. The program will automatically find duplicate images, so you can erase them without the risk of losing valuable data.
