A: I'm pretty sure that the Tg785N is a newer version of the Tg784N and as such would have the same option to download and install Tiscali software. It shouldn't be too hard to figure out. It's not a server issue. Your pc just can't keep up with the enormous amount of requests that are being sent to the modem and it's trying to do it's best to keep up. Try downloading a program that can download quicker in order to speed up the process. UPDATE It appears that the Tg785N also supports file sharing. Q: WordPress (WooCommerce) product variation image - uploading just a new image each time the variation is changed I created variations for my products as there are different colors and sizes of those products. Right now, each time a variation is selected, it simply overwrites the image with the newly selected variation's image. The problem is that since there are so many variations, after a while, all the variations are showing an image from the last variation that was selected. How can I make sure that each time a variation is selected, it will have a new image? HTML: `get_id(), '_product_thumbnail_id', true); if ($product_image == "") { global $post; $thumbnail = wp_get_attachment_image_src(get_post_thumbnail_id($post->ID), 'large'); $product_image = $thumbnail['0']; }?> get_permalink($product_image);?>"> " alt="get_title()?>" title="get_title()?>" /> For each variation: add_action('woocommerce_after_add_to_cart_button`
