"Ok. So, this space thing; it's crazy. What am I supposed to do? I'm supposed to protect this planet by blowing up stuff. And those things are just making my job harder! They're not shooting rockets at me, they're shooting rockets towards this planet! What is this?! This has never happened before! And it's not the first colony either! How are people able to just move here, into a new planet? It's madness! I want to kill someone. Now! Get out of my way!" All videos here: [0:35]The story. [2:20]It's almost over. [4:03]Imperial Marines. [4:24]Colony Attack. [4:50]Next colony. [5:10]The 1st row of colonists are already in space. [6:45]That dude is in the center. He is just in the center. [7:26]The problem is, they're chasing bullets, while we're chasing people. [so hot, she's a hot girl] [8:11]Fly by the target. [8:40]The gun is overheating! [9:35]That dude! [10:07]The target, is turning his turret towards the player. [10:48]Boooooom! [10:53]That turret is overkill for the job. [11:20]Look, he has a rocket launcher. [12:20]That was another rocket launcher. [13:00]He's surrounded. [13:39]Let's fire our first rocket. [14:19]Two rockets! [16:12]How do we kill this guy? [16:38]The enemy is firing some kind of rifle from behind. [killz] [17:19]He's behind you. [17:48]The enemy has a better weapon. [18:36]That guy, is really close. [19:06]The enemy is locking on to you. [19:39]The enemy has a better weapon. [20:16]The enemy is shooting you. [20:46]This dude, has a rocket launcher. [

Create your own gameplay sprites, spritesheet, or an animated demo. Let your imagination run wild! No complicated color sliders or rules. Just set the color palette you want and let the gameplay generator work its magic on the demo. The gameplay sprite generator doesn't only just let you create amazing gameplay sprites. You can also use it to quickly create images that appear in a scene. Use it to quickly create small white marks on a dark scene, or splash an enemy with blood. Create your own! Simply draw on the canvas to set your color palette, then click "Generate!" Customizable color paletteThe gameplay sprite generator gives you the power to build your own color palette. You can either drag color sliders and choose colors or build your own color palette with the color palette generator. Your palette can be saved to disk so you can load it again later, or you can export it to PNG files and import it to other applications like Photoshop. Curse the Wall - 2016-09-16:Play your opponent and challenge them to a game of last man standing. For each game you can spend a curse, but they need to spend a curse to play. Each curse has different effects. If you can play without spending a curse, then you win! But beware of those curse bottles of dynamite, they might be worth keeping! Iridium Games is proud to announce iDirtyLoot is now available for all Nintendo Switch owners! The game offers a single player experience, and quick battle modes. The multiplayer experience features up to 10 players and up to 8 people in coop, while both battle and cooperative mode are split between Nintendo Switch only and PS4 and XBOX versions. Ideal for solo players, coop players and party games. No single player survival mode. Battle mode lets you team up with your friends to fight off a hoard of enemies together or face them one by one. The Nintendo Switch version of iDirtyLoot is already available for sale on Nintendo eShop in the U.S. The other versions will be available soon. Official Website: Having worked at Nintendo on the Donkey Konga series and other handheld games, I have to admit the idea of bringing one of these games to the Nintendo Switch is very exciting to me

What's new in Arizona Derby Official Soundtrack:

: Democrats Fighting Trump Decline Are Fighting Fanny and Freddie Hillary Clinton, who at 70.7 percent superior in the polls, has made Bill, the video of her pain, and hence dragged the polls down on Trump's behalf. Who is incompetent Hillary? Conservatives know! Democrats are using the media to marginalize Donald Trump. What are Democrats fighting for?! At Alderwoman Ward to be determined. United We Stand. Who ever she or Trump may be. Democrats are fighting the expectation of their numbers and the Democrats 2000 presidential election loss. Hillary truly is awful and should be kicked off the ballot all together. Nevertheless, the burden of proof is real for Democrats to prove she can fight for the Trump agenda. Thus, at 85.4 percent superior, the saving grace for Donald Trump might be Donna Brazile. At this point the voters might actually care who is best equipped and willing to fight Trump's corruption. But the Democrats are fighting Hillary in an attempt to keep the vote up to Trump and Clinton ranges over a million votes too high for the Cruz defeat to have an appreciable effect. Among the millions of Obama and Clinton supporters who tried to salvage Hillary in the Denver convention and nationally, Trump claims 30,000 votes. A nearly equal number of Cruz voters stayed home. It is those two losses from last month and at some point the Democrats are going to have to explain their existence. John Kasich is also on the ballot on the Republican side (in addition to Trump and Cruz). At only a 98 percent superior to Clinton, Warren can limit GOP defections, but a two percent drop from Clinton loyalists will kill her. While the Democrats mingle at the conventions, while Hillary stumbles there and shakes it off, their numbers once again surpass their citizenry numbers. Rather than 2/3 of the vote going to Trump or Cruz, the Democrats have gained 5-6 percent over Republican totals. At this point, whether it is a race between one of the Republicans or Clinton, the voters notice. Are they willing to go that extra mile for an unknown woman from New York? For a scowling, anti-immigrant social conservative? For a war-mongering Democrat? For a 'proud', what's-a-curse, homophobe? For Trump's unconscionable comments on sexually assaultive behavior? Hillary Clinton and the Democrats aren't going to win that

Battlefield Events is a tabletop roleplaying game that allows players to create characters and join rival factions for exciting battles in the game's own campaign - each battle is a special event with its own outcome. You can play the game alone or with other people on a local network or online. In Battlefield Events, you can battle over the plains of The Forsaken Kingdom. The game includes the rules for using 5E rules in Fantasy Grounds: Universalis 1.24. The game includes campaign settings for the Forgotten Realms and other fantasy settings. The 19 different battlefield events add variety to the game. You will find sandbox terrain with random spawn points and objectives, the game's own campaign map, and plenty of events to trigger in order to give the game more atmosphere. The game includes 6 battlefield fumbles, so no game session is ever really the same. You can use Fantasy Grounds to create both the campaign and local multiplayer scenarios, and the game can be used on a local network or online with the game's multiplayer option. This product includes: 1 full 64 page PDF book containing the campaign scenarios and rules. 1 full 64 page PDF book containing the multiplayer rules. 1 Fantasy Grounds User's Guide. A scenario setup and runtime tool. A checklist. To get the most out of Battlefield Events, read the included Rules and Campaign Guides and Fantasy Grounds User's Guide in advance. System Requirements: You need an active subscription or a one time purchase of a Fantasy Grounds Full or Ultimate license and the Included 5E ruleset. Q: How can I add all items in one list into list of lists? How can I have the following output: sample = [[1], [1, 2], [3, 1, 2], [3, 4, 1, 2], [2, 3, 4, 1, 2], [1, 2], [2, 3, 4, 1]] When I run this: x = [] x = x + [int(x)]*4 x = x + [int(x)]*3 print(x) I get: [[1], [1, 2], [3, 1, 2], [3, 4, 1, 2], [2, 3, 4, 1, 2], [1, 2], [2, 3, 4, 1]] Why is it doing this and how can I make it
