Britain's exports are expected to increase after Brexit when trade deals with EU countries are in place, a new report says, as the government prepares to launch negotiations over trade deals. With all the talk of "no deal", the UK is looking to boost trade by striking deals with countries such as Australia, Brazil and South Korea in the hopes of securing new markets post-Brexit. Trade in the EU increased by 2.9 per cent in 2017, with goods exports to the bloc rising 1.4 per cent in real terms to £157 billion, according to new data from the Office for National Statistics (ONS). If you've been following me on Facebook or Twitter or any of the other places, you probably have seen me talking about how I've been slowly re-imagining my writing page. Back in December, I was still in a bit of a dream state of creativity, so it took me until this month to figure out what I'd actually been writing (and not writing) and how I was going to fix it. It wasn't anything radical or game-changing, but I did overhaul my layout and get rid of some stuff I didn't need. I still have a few bits I still haven't finished up, but in general, it's definitely a little less cluttered and even more inviting now. d0c515b9f4

Field of the Invention This invention relates to a snowboard for downhill skiing and, more specifically, to a snowboard which can be used for both downhill skiing and snowboarding. 2. Description of the Prior Art Although downhill skiing is a very popular sport, many people do not regularly participate in the sport because of the expense and difficulty of learning the basic skills required for downhill skiing. There have been many attempts to provide improved apparatus to make skiing easier and more convenient to the beginner or young child, but none have been entirely successful. U.S. Pat. No. 3,447,023 issued to Charles L. Kennedy provides a manually adjustable ski with a platform seat and a ski boot clamp which is free to be raised and lowered. U.S. Pat. No. 4,524,769 issued to George J. Sackett provides a cover for a snowboard which functions as a seat. U.S. Pat. No. 4,551,944 issued to Steven W. Clements provides a device to increase the stability of a snowboard in a "scraped ice" condition. In the present invention, a single snowboard provides the ability to use it for snow skiing or snowboarding. The snowboard comprises a front section extending from the bottom surface of the board to the middle of the board for a front edge surface. The bottom surface is provided with a three foot diameter foot extension member which permits the snowboard to
