More than 1,000 hours of motion capture data were collected from 22 players, including 16 of FIFA’s 23 current starting XI, selected players from 18 different countries and top European Leagues and player who have also played in the World Cup. From these trials, 60 variations of how the players jump, sprint and turn were discovered and new animations and attributes were created from this data. This new technology was then adapted to ensure that the player animations in FIFA look and feel authentic, and that your player feels as if they are in the World Cup. The latest edition of the game also introduces “Superstar Faces,” creating unique, signature facial animations for players who have played in the World Cup. Based on real-life player attributes, players are scanned when they are running or at rest and their unique facial gestures are captured and translated into unique 3D facial animations. FIFA 22 Superstar Faces allows you to use any player for your own in-game creation by scanning the real-life player in-game, taking a screenshot, importing it into the game and choosing the face you like most. You can edit and shape the facial movements and transitions of the player to your liking, as well as personalise the Player Card with an image of your favourite player, or select the team you want to play for. You can even add custom filter effects like bokeh and depth-of-field filters to enhance the player’s looks. Each player also has unique “weight” and “muscle structure” attributes, which can be used to create your own player, and the game will even scale the player’s size and weight according to what you’ve chosen, to help you design the perfect footballer. The player’s scale also determines how active they are when stationary and how often they change direction when running or jumping, meaning you can match their speed to any scenario. Players can be used as completely customised players in single-player modes. You can also use regular FIFA players by importing a FIFA Profile of their name. The transfer market also has unique carousel filters that allow you to search for any player that has been scouted, automatically saving you time because you don’t need to repeat the process of identifying the player. In “My FIFA” you can also share your own created players in the latest update to the game’s community creation engine.

What's new in Fifa 22:

- GOALKEEPER Significantly improved goalkeeping behaviours and techniques. Use the more effective save-to-shot positions to make the opponent stop and start shooting. Intelligently move from ground to ground and select the position to intercept the ball to the complete control of your keeper.
- SMART FREE KICKS Realistic AI headers, and new control mode. Use your freekicks with finesse. From wall balls to 50-50's. Possession is back, yet more balanced and realistic all-round.
- FIRST TEAM SPORT Dynamically fight for the captaincy when you reach the top of your first team.
- MUCH MORE FIFA 22 will return to the tradition of being a football game to enjoy with friends. Feel the adrenaline of the flowing football game, created to share, not fight with.
- INTERACTION TACKLE UEFA officially supports the return of physical interaction. Smoothing the tackling animations and confirming the inability of body parts to move, tackling is again under the control of the player.
- IN-GAME DEVELOPMENT UEFA share the real visual feedback about the passing through the two new developer views. The ball should always remain on track with the hint of the moves and hopefully unveil some new tricks about controlling the player and the goalkeeper.
- PUMP MAXIMUMS
- Team Management
