The cost of this software is like most photo editing software, a few hundred dollars. Note: this is also not to be confused with Photoshop Express. Adobe Photoshop Elements is arguably the simplest photo editing software. After setup you have a three tab interface, Edit, Develop, and Photomerge. The Edit tab will let you crop, sharpen, lighten or darken your images. You can rotate your images and add an auto rotate tool to your tool bar. Additionally, there is an ability to batch process your images and remove unwanted items in one click. The Develop tab will let you easily change the color of your image. You can add a little studio flair by adding various effects to your images such as emboss, emboss lighting, high pass filter, etc. Finally, the Photomerge tab will let you combine multiple images into a single image. You can quickly create collages or even turn a group of images into a cartoon character. I don't know who peed in your corn flakes, but I'd appreciate it if you could get it out of the batter before I eat the whole thing. The marshmallow part is nasty enough, but I'd rather not have to eat the dust of someone's feet on the kitchen counter or sniff out the aftertaste of ball-head dawg fertilizer. This is a modern take on the classic goldfish crackers (often known as "gold fish on a stick" in Australia, for some reason... see also "cheese and crackers"). These aren't the typical cracker-like things you find at your grocery store. Instead, they are little cheeseball halves (soft enough to eat directly off the end of the stick), dipped in chocolate to form an outer shell and covered in a soft, chewy caramel center. You could get away with using a stick to eat them, but I prefer a fork – so stick out your forks and invite everybody to try a bite! Ingredients: 125 g (1 cup) butter 125 g (1 cup + 3 tablespoons) caster (superfine) sugar 125 g (1 cup) plain (all-purpose) flour 125 g (1 cup) plain (all-purpose) unsweetened cocoa powder 225 g (1 lb) fromage frais Chocolate shavings Honeyed cream Caramel Preparation: 1) Melt the butter and sugar in a heavy-based saucepan, stirring well to combine. The mixture should become glossy and gooey. It will have a caramel-y smell to it as well. At this point, if you have a candy thermometer (easier if you can fit it into the saucepan without it sticking!) you should be able to set it at 150 degrees C (about 230 degrees F). I usually just eyeball it and start stirring the mixture continuously. When the caramel starts to bubble at the edges, and you're sure the mixture is getting warmer and not cooler, take the pan off the heat. 2) In a large bowl, sift the flour and cocoa, then make a well in the centre. Pour in the melted butter and sugar, then mix well. The mixture will be thick and gooey. Start kneading the mixture. Knead for 5 minutes, until everything is well mixed and
