The graphic design and editing industry is hungry for quality software, so the time is now to get the most out of Photoshop and Photoshop Elements. Here are some reasons why you should upgrade. It's time for a new graphic design tool. Even though Photoshop has features for graphic designers, it is still targeted at photographers. Photoshop Elements does away with this functionality, because it is built with graphic designers and photo editors in mind. Currently, there is a lack of good graphic design software for photographers, graphic designers, web designers, and those who love memes. Photoshop Elements is the perfect tool for a casual photographer who also wants to create graphic images and web content. If you want to edit photos or design on the web, it is time to take a serious look at Photoshop Elements. Its simplicity can help you put your creativity into your work and save time. Speed is everything. Photoshop Elements is smaller, and it is designed to save time and create efficient designs. It is faster than Photoshop. This is important for casual photographers, who are frequently focused on the fun and fast-paced aspects of photography, as well as casual graphic designers, who often juggle a number of tasks at once. The time that would have gone into designing and editing a single image in Photoshop can be saved with Photoshop Elements. It makes sense for Photoshop to offer a lighter version. Photoshop Elements is the perfect tool for casual photographers, graphic designers and meme-makers. If your editing is more complex and you want to use Photoshop for more involved design projects, use Adobe Photoshop. Adobe Photoshop gives you great tools for your design work. Ask HN: Best Show Visualization Platform/Apps? - githubberkshire I'm looking for a good platform to use for a Showcase for my Startup. The Showcase is a live online presentation & where I bring up an image, overlay it with a title, and a description for the viewers to read. I'm looking for an interactive one, just like Youtube's "Play" column. So I'm looking for someone who can help me out. Is there anyone who has done this before? Is there a platform for this? If so, what would that be? ===== elchief I made this for my video-production startup: [preview/](It's like youtube's "play" column, but nicer since there's no pixelization. ~~~ githubberkshire I feel like this is better for showing off live, however I understand your point. . "When I was doing a piece for a magazine, I found that there was very little context to what I was actually doing," he says. "I was lucky to be able to find a gallery of books that would actually make sense to me and let me know that I was on the right track. Now I'm able to make my own sense of things." In homage to the country that nurtured his art and philosophy, Ansari went to art school in India and spends much of his time immersing himself in Eastern culture. The 50-year-old Indian had never actually painted before, but he decided to give it a try. Then one day on a visit to an art gallery in New York City, he discovered a painting by Spanish artist Ignacio Zuloaga. "It blew my mind," he says. "It was the beginning of my interest in western art." "It's interesting how certain careers branch off from the way that people are raised," says Deneen. "When I had young children I was able to immerse myself in nature, but it wasn't really possible for me to sustain that as an adult. Something that I could have done in the past doesn't have the same meaning for me now."

The Door is a monthly mini-serial where I write a tale for 5-10 pages as if I were writing a one-shot. Like a typical one-shot, I can go in any direction with it, so I'm still in the brainstorming stages of this one. The premise is about a mysterious man who tends to appear near doorways, setting up shop and offering his services to strangers. He's not a weirdo, he's perfectly ordinary, a nobody. No one really notices him - but they're all strangely drawn to him. He attracts people and demands their attention, like a magnet. A magnet pulls you toward a magnet. Who wouldn't want to be in proximity to the mysterious stranger? As the series continues, I intend for it to eventually take on a life of its own, expanding into this universe and connecting with other stories I'm working on. It will be like a serialized version of a movie script, with the idea being that any number of stories can start with the same prologue, and the first one could even be the only one that ever sees the light of day. As a writer, I find the idea fascinating, and I hope to take advantage of the opportunity. So if you're interested in helping me along on this journey, leave a comment below, or shoot me an email at gopherj@gmail.com. I'm always interested in hearing new and different suggestions. The next installment of The Door will be posted on the 1st of every month, and the installments will be posted at the beginning of the month. So if you don't see one for the month, keep your eyes peeled on your favorite RSS reader. The last post can usually be found on the homepage or on the social media feeds as well. As always, if you like the story, and the people in it (like me!) would like to see you play the role of a guest in the next installment, be sure to drop us a line and let us know. Especially if you're interested in playing a special monster or maybe a mysterious government agency. We'd love to hear from you!
