720p HD free BluRay Real Story. Field of the Invention The present invention relates to an image recording method, image recording apparatus, image recording medium, and image recording program product, and more specifically, to a technique for recording color images that maintain high image quality. Description of the Related Art When color images are recorded using a specific recording apparatus, the areas where chromatic dots are recorded (i.e., recording dots or pixels) and the areas where achromatic dots (i.e., non-recording dots or pixels) are recorded need to be recorded on the same dot pattern. That is, overlapping of recording dots (pixels) of different colors that appear simultaneously on the same recording medium during recording is avoided so that high image quality is maintained. In the related art, color recording of an image is performed by minimizing overlaps between the color recording patterns in the areas where chromatic dots of different colors are recorded on the same recording medium. This process is called color registration control. When an image is input from 6d1f23a050
