DOWNLOAD CASE MANAGEMENT SOFTWARE OFFICIAL CANADA Reinforced Concrete Design By Oyenuga Rar -- Repost : 1-28-2016, " Design of Reinforced Concrete (Hardcover)". Vous avez trouvé un paquet. While quality manuals are available, there are many good books. Design of reinforced concrete by oyenuga rar and a few from other well known books. There is a relatively recent textbook on concrete design published in Britain, Reinforced and prestressed concrete design which is a good must have as it is the bible for today's design of concrete structures, however, the book is expensive at over $200.00. A: Realistically, I have not found any solid, definite resources for detailed, comprehensive information on structural concrete. That doesn't mean there isn't some, but the resources I have found are the forums, PMs, etc. from folks who are experienced in structural concrete design. In the following link, there are six links at the bottom in the gray box that are the most relevant for you. Each of those pages has more links in the gray box. The following links are provided as a representative sample of what is available for the site, and are to help get you started in the right direction. In particular, the Wall Construction Forum is the largest of the six, and hosts the largest number of civil engineers from all over the world. Q: Get child count by category I'm using drupal 7. I have two node types: series and nodes. A node can be in several series. I have a Views module showing the series (with a views block). I have a view that shows some extra information, like N nodes in this category N nodes in this category with id > 1 N nodes in this category with id > 1 and at least 2 (as child) nodes in this category I can do 1, 2 and 4 with a regular view, but I'm not sure how to get '3' and what conditions to use. I'm not very familiar with Views, and can't find anything on the internet. A: You can probably accomplish that with a separate "Overlap" view, but there is also a module that does the same thing: Panels The "Panels module lets you create node panels. Each node panel is a Drupal
