The first section of this Photoshop Tutorial teaches you how to draw and paint with a marker. If you are a beginner and you simply want to create something, then my painting tutorials will show you how to do that. The first lesson is just a primer lesson and you will start using the brushes after you finish painting the person. You can then continue and learn about the painting techniques, such as different brushes, blending and frames. As you progress through the Photoshop Tutorial, I am going to show you advanced techniques, such as how to create and retouch skin. You can see the before and after images below and see the difference between the new method of retouching and the old retouching method I use. The areas in the middle are all the same, yet the way I have now retouched them is much more natural looking.
