on the other hand, if you dont pogo, theres no possibility of falling. as for the car, it can fall up to 4 floors (it comes in 4 speeds), and each floor counts as a separate pogo. so, falling in the first floor doesnt end your game, but it will reset your current pogo level to the first. falling in the second floor ends the pogo, and so on. the game isnt over until you reach the top of the last floor. as for the player, the game will start out in level 1, and you can work your way up to level 3 as you play the game. level 1 is a two-floor path, while level 2, 3, and 4 are three, four, and five floors, respectively. while you can play the game in a variety of ways, the "pogo" path is undoubtedly the most fun path to play. if youre like me, youll want to go for level 3 as fast as possible and then try out the different ways to play. if you want to get the best possible pogo time, you can do so by slowing down your pogo to the second floor and then sticking to the middle part of the pogo stick's motion. in the pogo stick's motion, it starts out slow, then speeds up as it nears the end of the pogo, and then slows down when it hits the end. if youre like me, youll want to pogo when the stick nears the end of the motion, and then pick up the speed to get the most pogo time possible. if you don't have a usb cable, then you can still use checkra1n. this is a great alternative to the official windows support that is coming soon. still, if you have an iphone or ipad, then you can't use this method. if you want to use the universal usb installer, then you need to download and install the windows 7 or 8 version of it. you can use the 7 version to jailbreak your iphone or ipad, and the 8 version can unlock your phone if you have a windows pc.
